To Whom it may concern

For some time we were not satisfied with the time and effort it was taking to prepare new cars for sale, especially cars painted in darker colours.

After trying a number of different products we tried Permaguard Pre-Delivery Treatment and have found it to meet all our requirements. We find it excellent to eliminate micro scratches and what we call 'spider webbing'.

The product is fast to apply and because it leaves no white residue, it speeds up the overall preparation time whilst providing an excellent silky smooth finish that gives real added value to the quality of our presentation.

The cars in our showroom have never looked better and our discerning clients often remark on the preparation standard during the handover process.

We would recommend Permaguard to others looking to improve efficiency and quality with a cost effective product
